Insight with Impact

As China’s global influence grows, world thought leaders from the political, business and financial realms need a much deeper understanding of the country’s economic policies and its policymakers. It is the goal of Caixin Media, with its long experience in providing quality news and information services at home and abroad, to connect China with the world.

Caixin Media will convene a series of Caixin Roundtables at several multilateral summits and conferences for critical discussions about the Chinese economy and finance. The Caixin Roundtables will bring together top-level decision-makers and opinion leaders to meet in small groups in a nonpolitical environment to candidly discuss how they can affect global issues.
